

Dr. Manuel Montero-Odasso (MD, PhD, FRCPC, AGSF, FGSA) is a geriatrician and Professor in Medicine, and Epidemiology & Biostatistics at the University of Western Ontario and Director of the “Gait & Brain Lab” at Parkwood Institute, London, Ontario.

Tahir Masud is a Professor of Geriatrics in Nottingham, UK. He is the recent Past President of the British Geriatrics Society. His research areas include osteoporosis, falls, sarcopenia and education in which he has published widely.

Jesper Ryg: Clinical Professor/Consultant Geriatric Medicine/Head of Geriatric Research Odense University Hospital/University of Southern Denmark. Author >70 papers mainly on falls, fractures, and frailty. Full board member European Geriatric Medicine Society

Mirko Petrovic is a Professor of Geriatrics at the University of Ghent, Belgium, lead of the research unit “Quality of drug utilization in older persons’ and currently serves as Academic Director of the European Geriatric Medicine Society.

Nathalie van der Velde is a professor and consultant geriatrician at the University of Amsterdam, as well as co-chair of the Amsterdam Public Health Institutions' research program "Aging and Later Life".